Question if Old Co-Op. Principles Followed Now

REGINA, Feb. 2.—(CP)—The Royal Commission on taxation of co-operatives today questioned G. R. Bickerton, past president of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, on whether the co-operative principles of the Rochdale pioneers in England a century ago were being observed by present day co-operatives.

Mr. Justice Errol McDougall of Montreal, commission chairman, said he wondered if the availability of reserves had been responsible for recent expansion of co-operatives.

Mr. Bickerton said the old co-operative movement in England had allowed surpluses to be held for lengthy periods.

It had been demonstrated during the depression years that people remained faithful to the co-operative ideal.

Mr. Justice McDougall asked if Mr. Bickerton considered that the ultimate of co-operatives was a co-operative commonwealth.

Mr. Bickerton said that co-operatives Continued on Page 2, Col. 4

Bracken Claim Strongly Denied By McNaughton

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Feb. 2.—(CP)—Defence Minister McNaughton said in a statement today that the discipline at the ports of embarkation in Canada and on the ships during the recent movement of home defence troops overseas had been "satisfactory and the men have made a very good impression on arrival."

Gen. McNaughton was commenting on a statement made last night at Meaford, Ont., by the Progressive Conservative national leader, John Bracken. Addressing a political rally, Mr. Bracken asked that Gen. McNaughton tell how the home defence troops had thrown their rifles and ammunition overboard while on the high seas.

A prepared statement issued on behalf of Gen. McNaughton said: In answer, Gen. McNaughton states that the accusations which Continued on Page 2, Col. 7

Youth Is Killed As Fire Destroys Calgary Bakery

CALGARY, Feb. 2.—(CP)—George LaRoy Berry, 17, Bowden, died in the early morning fire which today totally destroyed the Palace Bakery here.

The body of the young man, who had been employed only two days at the bakery as night doughman, was found by firemen in the basement among the smouldering ruins at noon today, ten hours after the blaze was first reported.

His parents, Cpl. and Mrs. George G. Berry, and his brother, Gordon, had kept an anxious vigil before the building since the early hours of the morning.

200 Nazi U-Boats Ready For Attack

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(CP)—Information received from neutral and underground sources indicates the Germans are ready to send 200 U-boats off into the seas for a large-scale attack on convoys en route to France and Russia, the Daily Telegraph said today.

The German military radio is

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(CP)—Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, indicated today that some Russians already had crossed the Oder river just east of Berlin. Declaring the capital could and would be defended, the Nazi organ said in a broadcast article: "German armed forces are in a position to build barriers which the enemy, who has crossed the Oder with very small forces only, cannot even threaten."

By ROBERT S. MUSEL, Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(BUP)—The Germans reported today that powerful Russian forces massing along the Oder east of Berlin were trying to smash across that last big barrier before the capital, in the streets of which civilians were throwing up barricades.

A Nazi military spokesman said the Russian drive had reached "a major part of the course of the Oder" and this river line "in the broadest meaning has become the bolt and barrier front which is going to halt the Russian armies."

The German high command said strong Red Army units had reached the Oder on either side of Frankfurt, 38 miles due east of Berlin, and northwest of Kustrin, where the Oder elbow points down within 30 miles of the city.

A Nazi military commentator reported that the first effort by Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army to force the Oder was made at Kustrin, 42 miles east-northeast of Berlin.

"The courageous citizens of Kustrin chased back a Soviet tank detachment which was trying to cross the Oder, destroying Continued on page 2, Col. 3

On Voyage Overseas Claims Rifles, Ammunition Thrown Away by Draftees

MEAFORD, Ont., Feb. 2.—(CP)—John Bracken, Progressive Conservative party leader, in a by-election speech here last night called on Defence Minister McNaughton to tell the whole story about the sending of home defence troops overseas recently as reinforcements.

Mr. Bracken deviated from his prepared text to ask that General McNaughton, Liberal candidate in the Feb. 5 Grey North by-election, reveal how the home defence troops had thrown rifles and ammunition overboard while on their way overseas.

"Let Gen. McNaughton tell you about these who were sent over," he said. "Let him tell you what happened. Let him tell you the whole sordid story."

"Let him tell you what happened on troop ships carrying draftees overseas."

"Let him tell you why some of these men arrived in Britain without rifles which they are expected to have."

Mr. Bracken asked that Gen. McNaughton show "that a single reinforcement demand sent from Canadian military headquarters at London to the department of national defence since he became minister has been met to the extent requested."

Mr. Bracken issued the challenge in a speech at a political rally for Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Grey North by-election of Feb. 5. Gen. McNaughton is the government candidate.

Nazis Show Fight In Italo Dugouts

ROME, Feb. 2.—(Reuters)—Germans in every dugout approached gave fight and maintained heavy defensive fire when Allied patrols went out testing German strength in the Apennines today.

All activity was limited to patrolling.

Reports from the 1st Canadian Corps front last night said vigorous patrolling was continuing along the Senio river sector and in the sector south of Lake Comacchio, just inland from the Adriatic.

Sharp patrol clashes developed whenever Canadian patrols encountered the enemy and there are nightly additions to the prisoner totals.

The Canadians, meanwhile, are given nightly serenades by German playing symphonic recordings of Strauss and Walseufel waltzes over loud speakers. These "concerts" have one result—they draw Canadian mortar fire.

Combat Casualties For U.S. 650,420

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—United States combat casualties since Dec. 7, 1941, neared the 750,000 mark today, with disclosure that army losses have reached 650,420.

The army's total, plus the latest navy figure of 86,922, puts the overall combat casualty figure at 737,342, an increase of 35,392 over last week's report. The army accounted for 33,469 of the rise.

French, American Forces Break Into Colmar Bastion

By BOYD LEWIS, Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PARIS, Feb. 2.—(BUP)—Allied armies broke into the big Alsatian stronghold of Colmar and the outer crust of the Siegfried line today coincident with the disclosure that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and his commanders had been conferring on current operations.

French and American forces overran the German pocket on the Rhine in lower Alsace and crashed into Colmar, its biggest city, after gains foreshadowing the doom of this enemy bridgehead left behind in the early winter push through most of the eastern strip of France. (A French home radio broadcast said Colmar had been captured.)

FORCES LINK UP

French military quarters in Paris reported late today that American and French units had joined at noon in the centre of the city.

The Franco-American push wiped out the northern section of the Colmar pocket along the Rhine, and the Allies were fighting within mortar range of the big Neubreisach bridges behind the Germans holding out in the mountains northwest of Colmar.

To the north, three American armies were wedging into the rim of the Siegfried defence belt on a broad front in the border region of

Before War Loan Many Believe Early Election Will Be Called

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(CP)—As the rearward of the members of parliament who came to Ottawa for the prorogation of parliament Wednesday completed their errands, the feeling persisted in political circles here yesterday that a general election will not be long delayed.

A good many members left Wednesday night but most of those who came had other business in Ottawa and some were leaving last night after attending to various matters relating to their constituencies.

The fast-moving events on the western front, the result of the Grey North by-election Monday and the timing of the Eighth Victory Loan which would normally come in late April and early May, are all factors which may influence the timing of the date for the election.

It is generally accepted that a victory loan campaign and an election campaign cannot both be waged successfully at the same time.

Archbishop's Election Held Up By Heckler

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(CP)—The election of the Rt. Rev. Geoffrey Fisher as Archbishop of Canterbury was officially confirmed today—despite objection by a grey-haired man who interrupted the ceremony in the crypt of St. Paul's cathedral.

The man, who later identified himself as Edmund Slocock, 70, of the Isle of Wight, rose from the congregation and said: "I would like to say this appointment does not meet with heaven's approval because, as I told the Prime Minister, God cannot and will not approve of the appointment of those who believe merely in policies of compromise."

None of the Archbishops or Bishops sitting at the long open table made any attempt to restrain the speaker.

Then he sat down and the ceremony continued.

All Emergency Housing Plans Cancelled Here; Will Protest To Ottawa

Plans for the erection of 600 homes in Edmonton from materials available at Dawson Creek, B.C., were exploded Thursday when Arthur Arnold, local representative of the National Housing Act Administration, intimated to Mayor John W. Fry that he had been instructed to terminate forthwith all negotiations in respect to emergency housing projects contemplated here under the National Housing Act.

The government spokesman said that his directive stated that emergency housing projects were being confined to the three cities, Ottawa, Quebec City and Victoria. These three cities have been declared emergency housing cities.

Mayor Fry made the announcement of termination of negotiations at a special meeting of city council called to hear representations from organizations interested in the solution of the desperate housing situation prevailing in the city.

OTTAWA DELEGATION

Council, by unanimous vote, instructed Mayor Fry, one alderman, and such civic officials as are deemed necessary, to proceed to Ottawa to urge the members of parliament for the provision of emergency housing in the city, and also a longer range housing program involving government aid in providing homes for workers in the low income brackets.

The delegation going to Ottawa was instructed also to make representations on the absolute necessity of making available in Alberta loans under the National Housing Act so that citizens able to provide their own homes without subsidy, are placed in a comparable situation with those residents in other provinces.

Groundhog Fails To Find Shadow

Spring is almost here folks—you can get out the garden tools and put them in shape for a lung and active season.

Mr. Groundhog didn't see his shadow today, so according to the old legend, spring is on its way. Had this morning been bright and sunny and the groundhog seen its shadow, the cold fact would have been that winter would be here for some time to come.

It may have been that Mrs. Groundhog wouldn't let hubby out for fear of catching cold—time alone will tell whether it stays cold as Calgary, or warms up to a balmy northern Alberta spring. If it does stay cold, you can always use those garden implements to keep the snow off the sidewalk, so get them out in any event.

The weather forecast for Edmonton today and Saturday reads "partly cloudy with some snow, continuing cold." The maximum temperature Thursday was one degree above zero, the minimum overnight being one degree below zero.

Thursday's minimum temperature was 17 degrees below while the temperature in the city at 2 p.m. Friday was 4 above. Estimated overnight low is zero, and the high tomorrow, 10 above.

Co-Operatives File 17 Briefs At Tax Probe

REGINA, Feb. 2.—(CP)—The Royal Commission on taxation of co-operatives yesterday heard or filed with it 17 briefs from co-operative organizations or credit unions, bringing to 28 the total received since sittings began here Monday.

The commission will continue sittings Friday and Saturday morning. Hearings at Winnipeg open on February 4.

When the sittings concluded yesterday, a brief of the Dairy Co-operative Marketing Association, Ltd., had been read by C. T. Gooding, of Saskatoon, manager, who will appear again for questioning Saturday.

The dairy co-operative is commonly known as the Dairy Pool.

SELF-HELP ORGANIZATION

Mr. Gooding said it was a self-help organization of dairy farmers operated to give service to members in processing and marketing dairy products to the best advantage and at cost.

T. M. Molloy, of Regina, president of the Federation of Credit Unions, said 163 credit unions had been organized in Saskatchewan and they now had a total on loan of $750,000. Earnings on share capital had been $26,600 of which $11,900 had been returned to members in dividends, interest on deposits and the like.

E. H. Bilodeau, secretary of the Lefebvre, Sask., credit union, read a brief saying that credit unions primarily were self-help organizations.

ASSETS OF $400,000

Total assets of the Lefebvre organization after 6½ years of operation now were close to $400,000 and loans to date were almost $400,000.

A total of 2,250 loans had been made to 781 members, the average amount being about $200.

The government should avoid any taxation which would tend to weaken credit unions. These organizations taught people to work together and encouraged thrift.

F. A. De Both of Regina, rose from the audience and requested permission to ask questions. Given permission, he said the credit unions represented a movement of collectives not co-operatives. He asked Mr. Bilodeau whether the credit unions sought money or the betterment of mankind. Mr. Bilodeau said he was not prepared to enter into a discussion with Mr. De Both.

L. L. Lloyd, secretary of the Antelope Credit Union, said in presenting his organization's brief, that as more co-operatives developed more people would be "better off" and able to contribute to government revenues.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT

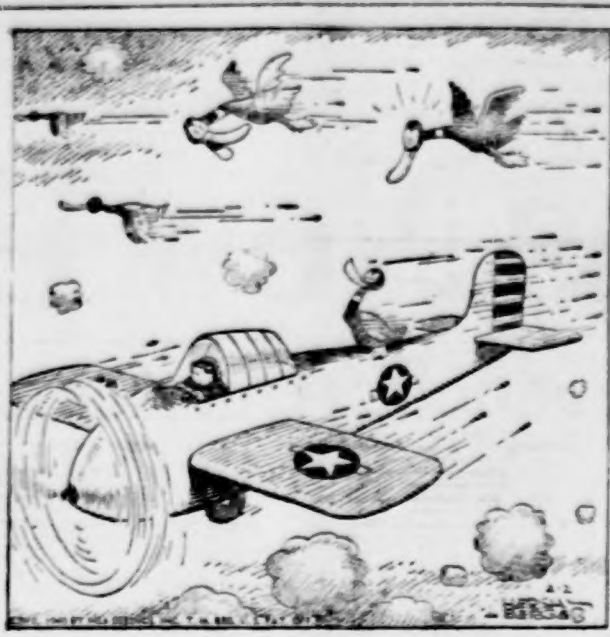

Sol. Sinclair of the Regina Credit Union League said credit unions developed the community spirit essential to a democracy. Surpluses from operations should not be regarded as profits but savings.

The credit union is a service institution operating in the public interest, providing credit service at a level not reached by any other group, and should not be made liable to taxation, said the brief.

Taxing of credit unions would be the taxing of savings. The principle of exemption should be continued and some of the phases surrounding credit union members and federations should be clarified and stabilized. Funds in a credit union were deposits and should not be regarded as investment funds. Taxation at this source should be no more applicable than in the case of savings deposits in commercial banks.

The Dairy Co-operative said in a brief the association acted as an agent for its members and thus made neither income nor profit. The total payment to members for produce presented the entire price received for his product less only the cost of operating and conducting the business of the association. Final distribution of payments to members might be delayed at the discretion of the board of directors to provide the association with the necessary reserve funds to carry on their business most efficiently, the brief said.

"Sitdown" War Back Again Something Screwy on West Front

FUNNY BUSINESS—"Lazy, isn't she?"

Under a "revolving door" plan, distribution of final payments would be delayed eight years for milk shipper members and six years for cream shippers.

"Since the door began to re-appear in 1934 the amount of final payment released to members to date totals $181,109," the brief said.

Withholding final payments not only provided working capital but also ensured a source of collateral against which sums might be advanced to members in time of general emergency or to assist them in the development of their dairying activities.

SAYS CO-OP. WITHDRAW

REGINA, Feb. 2.—(CP)—E. T. Parker of Halifax, counsel for the Royal Commission on Taxation and Co-Operatives, said yesterday it was "too late" for a witness to withdraw from the hearings after a brief had been presented for consideration.

C. T. Gooding, of Saskatoon, president and general manager of the Dairy Co-operative Marketing Association, Ltd., commonly known as the Dairy Pool, was asked to provide detailed accounts of the Co-operative's finances for a commission sitting Saturday morning.

Mr. Gooding said that compelling dairies were present at the public hearings and he would have to consult with pool directors before giving the detailed information "in public." They might decide that rather than give the information they should withdraw from the proceedings.

RULED "TOO LATE"

Mr. Parker replied that the Dairy Pool had filed a brief, which was read by Mr. Gooding, and it was "too late" to withdraw.

Mr. Justice Errol McDougall of Montreal, commission chairman, said the general good of the public was at stake in the inquiry being conducted by the commission. The commission simply wanted full accounts of Dairy Pool operations, and Mr. Gooding would have the right to ask compelling firms for similar information.

Mr. Gooding said he would provide the required data.

Work Assured

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(CP)—Assurance of new war work for Winnipeg sufficient to avoid unemployment resulting from a layoff of aircraft industry works was given yesterday by Munitions Minister Howe. It was stated by Stanley Knowles (CPC-Winnipeg North Centre) following a meeting with the minister.

Many Believe Early Election Will Be Called

Hence some observers who favor the belief that there will be no session of parliament but an early election are inclined to place the date no later than April 23.

Those who look for a session starting Feb. 23 or later to pass estimates and other necessary financial legislation, think the government will want to get the election over with before the campaign over to look for polling day in June.

Whatever the time picked may be, party authorities now are looking on the Grey North by-election as a sampling of public opinion which will tell them the probable direction of the wind of public favor when the larger Dominion-wide voting takes place.

Depending on the success or failure of their appeals in the by-election for the general election. The minds of some of the information the vote will give on the actual trends of public opinion will be more important to them than the prestige gained or lost as a result of the victory or defeat of a candidate.

Svenska Morgonbladet of Stockholm said street car service in Berlin was being suspended and the subway reduced to a minimum, leaving a reduced bus service to carry the major burden of transportation. atives had to have some objective of this kind.

Mr. Bickerton read a brief prepared for his organization which declared that the co-operative movement was the practical and active protest against the extravagances and costly duplications of the competitive system.

Mr. Justice McDougall said that in referring to a co-operative commonwealth he was not thinking of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, a political party.

Mr. Bickerton said he understood this. A co-operative commonwealth had been a matter of consideration before the "CCF" was thought of.

EXEMPT IN CANADA

Answering C. S. Thorvaldson of Winnipeg, representing the Dominion Income Taxpayers' Association, Mr. Bickerton said he did not know that co-operatives in Russia were taxed. Canadian co-operatives are exempt from income and excess profits taxes.

The act of incorporating co-operatives as companies prevented them from "riding high, wide and handsome" as a standard was applied.

Mr. Justice McDougall asked if incorporation were not an advantage in that liability was limited. Mr. Bickerton said he felt co-operatives would get along without such incorporation.

The 11th Airborne Division swept ashore from landing craft virtually unopposed along five miles of Balabac beach near Nasugbu and quickly pressed eastward toward 2,500-foot Tagaytay Ridge, which commands fine highways leading to Manila and the Cavite naval base in Manila Bay, 32 miles away.

Hint New Allied Assault Mapped By Eisenhower

Germany, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The First and Third armies, fighting below the Ninth Army sector, were closing on the Siegfried line's main works along a 30-mile front.

CONFERS WITH BRADLEY

Supreme headquarters announced that Eisenhower and his staff had conferred with Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, 12th Army Group commander, but permitted little speculation about the gathering.

The conference was held against the significant background of a Russian drive to the approaches of Berlin and American penetrations of the Siegfried works.

Its importance was indicated by the fact that it was announced at all, for the usual meetings between commanders go unheralded. The announcement specified that the principal members of the supreme command staff were present, another indication that big things were cooking.

FOLLOWS INDICATIONS

The conference came after repeated intimations that Allied forces in the West propose to go over to the offensive at the earliest possible moment to take advantage with the Germans' preoccupation with the critical situation in the East.

The British 2nd and Canadian 1st armies have also been reported in a position for major operations, but no word of activity has come from Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery's northern wing of the Allied front since early in the week when German sources reported an enemy withdrawal in Holland in the face of Canadian First Army pressure and heavy artillery action.

Much German strength is known to have been shifted from the West to the East and both the American First and Third armies today found many abandoned German positions, including some in the Siegfried line. But elsewhere the Nazis were still putting up tough resistance.

Field dispatches said the Germans were abandoning entire sections of their first-line Siegfried defences and pulling back into the main fortifications three to four miles farther east without a struggle.

The withdrawal, apparently dictated by the need of reserves to meet the Red Army push in the east, was reported most pronounced northeast of Monschau, where the Germans were known to have built a double wall of defences covering the Cologne plain.

At other points, however, the enemy was reported fighting stubbornly along the outer fringes of the Siegfried line with mortars, machine guns and rifle fire. German mobile field guns behind the West Wall were maintaining a sporadic fire all along the front, while American 155-millimetre Long Toms opened a heavy barrage in support of the attacking forces.

Far to the south, the French First Army cleared all German resistance from the west bank of the Rhine for a distance of 30 miles south of Strasbourg and closed in from the north and south on the remnants of the Nazi pocket around Colmar.

EXPAND BRIDGEHEAD

Patton's Third Army troops, packing the assault on the Nazi West Wall, expanded their bridgehead across the Our River to a width of seven miles, with their vanguards some five miles inside Germany.

The biggest gains were carved out at the northern end of the bridgehead, where the Americans advanced on a five-mile front to take Gross-Langensfeld and Heckscheid, seven to eight miles southeast of St. Vith.

More than 100,000 American troops were on the move across or up to the German frontier on both sides of the Our bridgehead on a line extending from northeast of Monschau down almost to the Luxembourg border town of Vianden.

The Americans pushed forward as much as 2½ miles in the past 24 hours, hampered almost as much by a sudden spring-like thaw that turned roads and fields into a morass as by enemy fire.

Stiffest fighting was reported in the Monschau Forest, two American divisions were closing in from the northeast and southwest on the German border town of Wahlerscheid, five miles southeast of Monschau.

A combat team fought its way into Wahlerscheid last night and was reported firmly entrenched in the cross-roads town early today after a deep penetration of the Siegfried line.

At some points south of the town, German gunners were infiltrating back into pillboxes previously reported abandoned.

A few miles to the southeast, however, other American troops overran scores of Siegfried line pillboxes and anti-tank barriers against weak resistance. Many of the enemy positions were found thinly-manned or abandoned entirely.

On the Alsace front, French and American units of the French First Army continued their systematic reduction of the German panhandle extending from Colmar up along the west bank of the Rhine to within about ten miles of Strasbourg.

Believes Brothers Committed Crimes To Escape Service

REGINA, Feb. 2.—(CP)—City police inspector D. McDougall said in police court yesterday he was convinced two brothers in the army as draftees had committed a series of crimes to avoid being posted to service overseas.

Pte. Michalis Dulovek, 24, and his brother, Pte. Joseph, Wya of Nokomis, Sask., were sentenced to 18 months each hard labor on charges of auto theft, shopbreaking and theft. Inspector McDougall said they were absent without leave from the army.

have been made by John Bracken have been investigated in the office of the department of national defence.

The authorities at the ports of embarkation report that there had been rumors that one draftee had thrown his rifle and kit overboard. It had been stated that the man's kit was recovered and the rifle lost.

There was no confirmation that this incident in an individual case had happened. Inquiries have been made to London.

HAS FULL REPORTS

Gen. McNaughton stated further that he now had full reports on the embarkation, the voyage and the arrival in the United Kingdom of the troops which had carried the NRMA men as well as others.

The discipline at the ports in this country and on the ships had been satisfactory and the men had made a very good impression on arrival.

Gen. McNaughton observed that if Mr. Bracken had in fact made the statement attributed to him, it was another example of careless utterances which have come to be associated with his name. He had made serious charges. He would be given every opportunity to substantiate what he had said.

Many Condemned Former Bulgarian Regents Given Sentence of Death

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(CP)—Bulgaria's three former regents, including Prince Cyril, brother of the late King Boris, and 100 others persons, many of whom held high government posts, have been sentenced to death in the Bulgarian people's court for treason, the Moscow radio reported last night.

The condemned group, which included several cabinet ministers, eight former king's councillors and 68 former deputies, was charged with taking Bulgaria into the war beside Germany and with engaging in terrorist activities, the broadcast said.

Twenty-three former deputies and a number of other prisoners were sentenced to life imprisonment. The property of all those condemned to death or life imprisonment was confiscated and all were heavily fined.

PUNISH CRIMINALS

A mass meeting of 30,000 persons in Sofia approved the sentences and voted to seek out and punish war criminals who still are hiding, the Moscow broadcast said.

The ex-regents sentenced to death with Prince Cyril were former Premier Bogdan Philov and Lt. Gen. Nikola Mihov—both of whom acted with Cyril as regents for King Simeon, the son of Boris, just before a new Bulgarian government that cut Axis ties and swung the country to the side of the Allies took power. Bulgaria then declared war on the Germans.

Briton's Attitude Toward the U.S. Undergoes Change

LONDON, Feb. 2.—(CP)—The German counter-offensive in the Ardennes area has left in its retreating wake a welcome tempering of British public opinion toward the United States, after a pre-Christmas flurry of critical speeches and press comment.

Britons are showing more interest in getting their own house in order than in shouting protests against a supposed American tendency to take a head start in organizing for the transition back to peace. Press reports indicating an intensified American war effort as a result of heavy casualties inflicted by Von Rundstedt's offensive have had a part in the changed British attitude.

Tory Candidate

REGINA, Feb. 2.—(CP)—N. J. Taylor, Regina hotel man, last night was nominated as Progressive Conservative candidate for Regina City federal constituency at a meeting of the local party association.

The son of George A. Campbell, former Edmonton alderman and chairman of the Hospital Board of 10015 83 Avenue, he is probably best known as a hockey referee. His refereeing career was climaxed by several seasons in the National Hockey League after he had become famed as a first class arbiter of the ice game in Alberta and Western Canada.

For many years he was highly successful in promotion of amateur hockey and baseball in Edmonton.

LEADING ATHLETE

Germany Dubs Plan of Big 3 "Wilson Farce"

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—

The German radio transmitted yesterday the following dispatch which was recorded by The Associated Press listening post in New York:

"Information is on hand in the German foreign office that at the meeting of Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill political action is to be carried through similar to the one started by former United States President Wilson with his 14 points in 1918.

"This time it is intended to achieve the same aim by modifying the demand for unconditional surrender. This has been agreed upon after it had been ascertained that the German command and the German people are determined to offer extreme resistance and after it has been recognized that Germany cannot be conquered either from the west or from the east.

"WILSON FARCE"

"Well-informed circles of the Wilhelmstrasse called this plan of government partaking in the three-power conference a 'Wilson farce' and pointed out that such action was already planned at the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting in Cairo.

"In a political respect such action is parallel to the action in the First World War when the Allies tried to make the German war command surrender by speaking only of the removal of the Kaiser and militarism, whereas it is now intended to hoodwink the German nation into believing that it is only a case of removing the fuhrer and National Socialism.

"The German nation, however, Wilhelmstrasse circles continue, is, as the fuhrer stressed, in his speech, immune against enticing arts of this kind, due to the spirit of the National Socialist movement. For this reason no one in Germany will fall for this planned manoeuvre."

Dismiss Appeal

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(CP)—The National War Labor Board last night announced dismissal of an appeal by Hudson's Bay Co., against a British Columbia War Labor Board ruling on methods of paying departmental managers in its Vancouver store, and suggested a further submission to the regional board with material now available but not previously before that body.

He went overseas in July, 1942. His wife, Patricia D. Cameron, lives at 11602 97 Street. She is a daughter of Lt.-Col. E. Brown, MM, ED, former area commandant and now chairman of the Provincial Soldier Welfare Commission. Lt. Cameron has returned after being wounded in action.

Five to Seven-Year Term Given Wilby For Grand Larceny

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—

At the conclusion of a 4½-hour court session, which court attaches said probably was one of the longest on record for a sentencing, Judge John A. Muller yesterday sentenced Ralph M. Wilby, 40, to five to seven years in state prison on his plea of guilty to grand larceny in the theft of nearly $400,000 from the William T. Knott Company, Inc., New York. Wilby was formerly employed under the name of Alexander D. Hume as assistant treasurer for the firm, a chain store management organization. He was arrested in Canada last March, four months after he disappeared from his office.

The Conference

Somewhere President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill may be in conference. If not, it is more than a guess that they soon will be.

What they are talking about, or will talk about, can be surmised in part, but if they attempted to cover the whole range of subjects that have been suggested they would be in session till mid-summer. Nothing more can be expected than that they will lay down principles, reach decisions on major issues, and leave details to be worked out as events unfold and situations now obscure become clear.

It is certain that political rather than military problems will make up the agenda.
The war is going favorably in every theatre, and the objectives cited at previous gatherings are being rapidly approached.

But this progress toward victory has multiplied the political questions which have to be dealt with if the ground is to be cleared for a durable peace and freedom from threat of another outbreak. These, undoubtedly, are the questions which will hold first place in the conference.

If the Big Three handle these as capably as they handled the broad strategy that has put the Axis where it is, no more could be asked or needed.

Get Them on the Tax-Roll

Ten years ago Edmonton would gladly have presented a town lot to any person who would build a house on it and thereby return the lot to the tax-roll. It may be that Edmonton will never again see the times it was enduring ten years ago. But the fact remains that these lots—there are 6,800 of them—do not produce any tax-money. The owners of property and the payers of business taxes have to make up year after year the amount which would otherwise come out of the pockets of the owners of these city-held lots.

Obviously the proper course is to take advantage of the present favoring circumstances to get these lots back into private ownership and the tax-paying status. That is the point from which to consider the proposal that veterans be presented with lots free on condition that they put houses on them. If others want to buy lots—and they are buying a good many—so much the better. But while there are unsold lots on hand any veteran who applies for one should get it for nothing, on condition that he puts a house on it and undertakes to pay taxes in future.

It may be that over a term of years all the lots could be sold. But perhaps that wouldn't happen. The future is uncertain.
The opportunity to play safe is here. It may be gone a year from now. Leaving other considerations out of account, it would be good business to give a lot to any ex-service man or woman who will make it a source of civic revenue. It is no part of council's business to speculate in real estate and gamble at the expense of the taxpayers on the future value of vacant lots.

On the Spot

It is disclosed that among the enemy supplies which the Allies captured in the advance from Normandy were 1,000 tons of Argentine beef. Explanations from Buenos Aires are now in order.

The Argentine officials may have been within their neutral rights in allowing the beef to be shipped to the Nazis. But it is not always profitable to do things which the law allows. Argentina is already in bad repute with the other countries in this hemisphere, and the beef deal will not improve its standing.

And if beef for Nazi armies, why not oil for Nazi submarines? These assassination craft have been getting supplies somewhere on this side of the Atlantic, to a moral certainty. Rightly or wrongly, this beef transaction indicates Argentina as the most likely source of supply for the U-boats which operated in the South Atlantic and the Caribbean at least.

Suspicion does not prove guilt, but it has the same effect on trade and international feeling. Unless Argentina aspires to economic isolation in post-war times, the authorities there would be well advised to put in alibis on the subjects of both beef and oil.

The "New Order" at Work

The audience in a theatre at Nice staged a riot when the picture of a salmon was flashed on the screen. The police have banned other films in which food is shown.
In the former winter playground of Europe a condition of near-famine prevails.
Not because the world food supply is short nor because France has not the means to buy, but because there are not enough ships to transport the supplies from countries overseas and there are no supplies obtainable in Europe.

Conditions elsewhere in France are only less desperate. The country is short even of wheat—which France used to export in good years and seldom had to import in pre-war times. There is black-marketing everywhere, to the knowledge of the authorities but beyond their control.

Prices of course are fantastic, but high prices do not increase the offerings, for there are no reserves.

It is more than four years since the "new order" was introduced into France, with promises that everybody should be made happy. Production, storage and distribution during the period of occupation were entirely in the hands of the Nazi officials and the Vichy collaborators. Allied armies have not eaten up French food —they took their own with them. But France is hungry, to the point of starvation in the southern area at least. Hope to improve the situation is said to depend on French farmers getting 2,000,000 bushels of Canadian seed wheat to sow in spring.

Such is France at the end of four years of National Socialism, with the machinery of production operated by supposed planning experts.

Whether or not the Yugoslavs like the arrangement, the Allies have one less trouble to deal with because King Peter worked out a regency agreement with Marshal Tito. They have plenty left, and that particular trouble had some nasty aspects.

Throughout the Allied countries there is joy and gratitude at the news that commando fighters from General MacArthur's forces raided a Jap prison camp and liberated more than 500 American, British and Dutch prisoners-of-war. The names of the rescuers may never be known. Perhaps it would not be fair to their comrades to identify them, because every man who has had a part in the Luzon operations deserves a share of the credit and the thanks.
But the men who accomplished this daring feat will know that they have won a place they will never lose in the thoughts and prayers of a great host of prisoner-relatives and friends, and a place of the highest esteem among all the peoples of the United Nations.

What's the Program for Germany?

Only Russians Know What They Want from Beaten Enemy.

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

In this very late hour—much later than anyone would think from reading the military commentators on the European war—it is time to think, and to think in the clearest most tough-minded way for if we don't we are going to be greatly surprised.

The German war is going to be over—in any minute to some weeks. The military situation on the Eastern front indicates it. Even if the German administration still were intact, and had the loyal following of army, leaders and people, the German military case
would be hopeless.

There are no
reserves; manpower is exhausted;
and with the capture by the Russians of Polish and German Upper Silesia, essential material resources have vanished. Without these, it would be impossible to continue long to defend even the best prepared fortifications. And no such fortifications are in the path of the advancing Soviet armies.

But the administration is not infact, and the civilian rear is in a complete state of demoralization.
The communication system has ceased to function. The movement of troops toward has become almost impossible because the railroads are blocked by refugees.
There are reports that the rationing system has broken down over large areas.

Before refugees began streaming from the east, there were some thirteen million people who had been bombed out. The stream cannot be checked, because the Nazi propaganda for two years has continually warned the people that every German caught up by the Russian armies will either be killed or deported to Siberia. There are reports of clashes between Volk-sturm and S.S. troops. There are desertions from Nazi ranks, and even from the S.S.

City to Send Delegation on Housing Lack

was moved by Ald. James H. Ogilvie, and was unanimously adopted by council.

Text of Ald. Ogilvie's motion reads:

"That this council recognizes the pressing need for an emergency housing program for Edmonton as well as a longer range program involving direct government aid in the matter of seeing that low income earners are decently housed at a cost they can afford as well as the making available under the National Housing Act of necessary finances by way of loans to those able to provide their own housing without subsidy, and that the mayor proceed to Ottawa and other eastern points, accompanied by one alderman and such officials of the city as he may choose and go fully into all aspects of this problem with all federal governmental agencies and departments and secure for the city such additional emergency housing accommodation as may be possible and that such organizations as were present this afternoon be invited to further the representations which the mayor and his associates will make in Ottawa by resolutions.

On the motion of Ald. Sidney Bowcott council directed that the city commissioners invite the Edmonton Ex-Servicemen's Rehabilitation committee to nominate a representative to accompany the city's delegation to Ottawa to support the city's representations, and especially to present the views of the ex-servicemen in Edmonton.

TO MAKE INQUIRY

Ald. M. M. Downey's motion that inquiry be made by the commissioners to determine if the Wartime Housing Ltd. proposal to erect 200 homes here for exclusive occupancy by ex-servicemen's families was available, also was passed unanimously.

N. E. Tanner, president of the Canadian Legion, Edmonton branch, intimated that he had knowledge that such a proposal had been made to the city commissioners, but that no action had been taken by them.

Commissioner John Hodgson said that no concrete proposal had been made. He said that representatives of Wartime Housing Ltd. had discussed some such proposal, but at that time the Crown company representatives had intimated they were merely making a survey throughout the Dominion and desired that no publicity be given to their activities.

Commissioner Hodgson said that he had informed Wartime Housing Ltd. representatives that city council would not sanction any proposal for the erection of houses here that were not constructed on full basements.

He added that no formal proposal had been made to the city in connection with the erection of the 200 homes, and pointed to the fact that the company, at the time the proposal was first talked about, were having difficulty obtaining men and materials to complete the 350 homes then being built here.

CANADIAN CORPS BRIEF

S. C. S. Kerr, KC, president, Canadian Corps Association, and chairman of the Edmonton Ex-Servicemen's Rehabilitation committee, presented a brief on behalf of the following organizations: Canadian Corps Association, Canadian Legion, Branch No. 24, Army and Navy Veterans' Association, British Imperial Comrades' Association, Red Chevrons Club, War Amputations of Canada, and the Central Council, Edmonton Women's War Auxiliaries.

The brief requested that the city council outline any policy which it may have in regard to the housing of ex-servicemen back from active service overseas, including widows of such servicemen, wives of servicemen married overseas and returning to live in Edmonton; servicemen and women who, upon honorable discharge from the armed forces return to Edmonton to live, and veterans of the Great War, who served overseas, and who have served in the armed forces in the present war and have honorable discharge.

He intimated that housing conditions in the city were deplorable, and that many ex-servicemen's families were forced to live in one and two rooms, or in accommodation totally inadequate for their needs.

He said that unless drastic action was taken to remedy the present housing situation and to provide suitable accommodation for returning servicemen, their wives and families that serious trouble might occur.

It is to assist the city council in its efforts to obtain this accommodation that the delegation now appears before council, Mr. Kerr stated.

FURTHER SUBMISSIONS

He submitted also that any housing policy in this connection which the city may adopt should concern itself chiefly with the providing of homes for ex-servicemen who are in the lower income or wage category.

That the city inaugurate a policy in regard to the purchase of city-owned lots whereby the city will not sell the same to people who do not give proper assurance that they intend to erect houses on the same.

That the city rescind its proposal that a 20 per cent discount be allowed to ex-servicemen upon the purchase of any city-owned lots. He pointed out that in Calgary no one is permitted to purchase a city lot unless the same is served by public utilities and is bought for building purposes in which event the city allows the purchaser a discount of 50 per cent of the assessed value of the lots concerned, whether the purchaser is an ex-serviceman or not.

Accordingly it is submitted if the city council is to negotiate with the Dominion government or anyone in regard to a housing scheme, the city council should be prepared to donate any lots concerned as part of such arrangement. The city council should also arrange for a fixed rate of taxation in connection with such lots for a period of say 15 years or the life of any loan made in connection therewith.

Any housing scheme will probably require to be arranged with the Dominion government. The city council should negotiate accordingly.

CELLARS UNIMPORTANT

The sort of houses that we recommend are reasonably priced bungalows with or without any cellar being excavated. It is pointed out that modern furnace appliances do not require the large cellars formerly considered necessary. Such dwellings could be erected on one city lot.

We think that the city might well consider a small holdings scheme along the lines adopted by the Calgary city council but that such schemes should not interfere with a housing scheme for men who only require a city lot and would be unable to handle the small holding because of the nature of their daily employment.

We consider pre-fabricated houses should only be erected in case of emergency and on the understanding that the same would be removed within a definite period, he submitted.

James A. Ross, representing the Armed Forces Federation, submitted that Edmonton should be declared an emergency housing city at once, and the mayor and members of the council should proceed to Ottawa to demand that emergency homes be erected here immediately. While recognizing that the provision of such housing is a national responsibility the city council has a plain duty to its citizens which it should perform, Mr. Ross stated, as he urged that immediate steps be taken to obtain homes here for ex-servicemen and their dependents.

Mr. Tanner, representing the Canadian Legion, asked for an explanation of the failure of the city council to take advantage of the offer of Wartime Housing Ltd., to erect 200 homes here. He produced a draft agreement of the proposal alleged to have been made to the city commissioners under which these homes would be built.

OUTLINES PROPOSAL

This called for the deed by the city to the Crown company of lots, located on utilities, at the nominal sum of one dollar. The company undertook to erect bungalow type houses at a cost of approximately $3,000 which would be rented at $22 to $30 monthly according to size. There were plans for one, two and three bedroom buildings.

The company, Mr. Tanner stated, was prepared to pay taxes at the rate of $24 annually on the two bedroom dwelling, and $30 on the larger. A service charge of $1 would be paid for street lighting.

At the expiration of 10 or 12 years, the proposed period of the contract, the homes would be offered for sale to the city at $1,000 for each home.

The proposed buildings would be erected on concrete foundations, but without basements.

Mayor Fry and other aldermen said that no such offer had ever been made to the city by Wartime Housing Ltd., and Commissioner Hodgson said the only representations made by the Crown company had been in the nature of a fact-finding proposal. He said that no concrete offer had ever been submitted such as that outlined by Mr. Tanner.

A representation of ex-servicemen now taking rehabilitation courses at the University of Alberta said that the plight of married men taking these courses was very unsatisfactory. He said that at least one of them had to discontinue his studies because it was not possible to obtain suitable accommodation. He predicted that the shortage of homes would militate considerably against the success of the rehabilitation plan.

BLAMES REGULATIONS

A. L. Marks, representing the Home Protective Association, said that the lifting of the rental regulations as they applied to "shared accommodation" would greatly relieve, if not solve the housing situation in the city.

F. W. Race, secretary, Edmonton Taxpayers' Protective Association, cautioned against over building in the city. He said that a committee of the association was making a survey of the housing situation and would submit a brief to council shortly.

Discussing the situation after the dinner adjournment Mayor Fry said that the stoppage of negotiations meant that the 50 units at the Jesuit College site, and the 40 units at the Edmonton exhibition grounds would not be proceeded with. He added that the work on conversion of camp 550 into suites would be completed to make available 110 housing units.

He asked for a directive concerning houses with or without basements, and was told by council members to seek homes with basements if possible to get them, but in any event to get homes as soon as possible to relieve the serious shortage of accommodation.

Loss of Berlin Will Not Mean Nazis' Defeat

By BRUCE MUNN

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
LONDON, Feb. 2.—(BUP)—Berlin was growing in military crisis today that even the loss of Berlin would not knock Germany out of the war. Although its capture would leave the Germans only a 300-mile wide area of manoeuvre the Nazis were believed preparing to attempt a Stalingrad-like stand, using Berlin as the bastion of a line on which they would attempt to halt the Russians.

A Nazi press report quoted the Reich deputy press chief, Helmut Smendemann, as telling foreign correspondents that "Berlin will become a bloody disappointment for the Soviets."

He said it had "become quite clear" that Berlin was the objective of the Russians and that Red Army prisoners believed the war would be over when they reach Berlin.

"It is not flight but resistance that is being organized here," he said. "Berlin is the feverish hope of the Soviets. It will become their bloodiest disappointment. Berlin is organizing itself not for holding out but for attack."

Says Reich, Japan Planning Next War

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Only a "perpetual armistice" would be able to prevent Germany and Japan from rearming eventually, says Harry L. Hopkins in the March American magazine, in urging compulsory military training for the United States after the war. Mr. Hopkins has "no doubt that powerful forces in Germany and Japan are preparing even now for their next attempt to conquer us."

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW

by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

APPARENTLY Red Deer Army Wheelers believe the most appropriate occasion to sweeten up scoring averages is the evening before our old friend the groundhog comes out for the annual pre-spring once over. In any event, with a total of 19, they certainly were crowding goal records last night.

And with four counters and a pair of assists, defenceman Jack Culverwell came within one point of the single game performance of Johnny Filion, Edmonton RC AF Flyers on Jan. 18, also against Wetaskiwin Army Colonels. Filion made five goals in that game and he had two assists in addition.

Culverwell has scored 11 goals in league fixtures and he is leading the Services circuit in that department—an unusual event for a defenceman. Alan Nikiforuk and Filion of the Flyers are next with nine and eight. Emil Bello, Jack Forsey and Ed Harding all collected five points each last night, while Dave Morland gathered up four and Jim Colquhoun went short with just three. Bud Turley of the Colonels and his team-mate Tootle split four of Wetaskiwin's five goals.

AT GLENORA CARNIVAL

SYD THOMAS, in his snaphols, has the following to say regarding Doreen Dutton, junior Canadian champion who will appear on the Glenora Skating Club's carnival program at the Arena on March 1, 2, 3:

"One of the rising stars in Canada's ice skating world, Doreen Dutton of Drumheller, Alta., can really say she's a self-made woman. The youngster who won the Canadian junior ladies' figure skating championship in Toronto the other day, had to build her own rink to get her start in the world, so the legend goes. "It seems that per Miss Dutton when a child of tender years decided she wanted to figure skate, so shouldered her shovel and

Hawks Hold Leading Canadiens to 1-1 Tie

Mosienko Knots Count 2nd Period

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—(CP)—The last place Chicago Black Hawks came to Montreal Thursday and fought the league leading Montreal Canadiens all the way for a 1-1 tie before about 10,000 National Hockey League fans.

The tie snapped a Canadian winning streak at nine straight games, and fans who had become accustomed to high-scoring games on forum ice were booing lustily at the end as the Hawks, well content with a draw, broke up every Canadian attack with disconcerting finesse.

The game was the 100th of the NHL season, marking the two-third mark of the regular playing season, and Canadiens sported new uniforms for the occasion but new uniforms failed to produce a victory for the home fans.

The Hawks had to come from behind for their split, with Bill Mosienko knotting the count in the middle period on a three-way play with Clint Smith and Joe Cooper. The goal was particularly sweet for Mosienko for twice before Bill Durnan had robbed him when he broke away with only Durnan to beat.

Maurice Richard collected the Canuck goal in the first period, his 77th of the season. As far as the goal judge was concerned, it was Richard's second goal of the night because a short time before the light went on after a shot from Richard appeared to hit the inside of the post. Players and officials didn't notice the light for several seconds and then there was a controversy that ended with referee Bill Chadwick's decision that there had been no counter.

Davies Nets Five As Canadians (1) Score 21-0 Win

Canadians (1), paced by Jack Davis with five goals and an assist, turned on the St. Albert Flyers Thursday night and handed them the worst shellacking of the season as they whitewashed the Flyers 21-0 in a City Juvenile Hockey League game at 119 Street rink.

Herb Maines with four counters and two assists and Doug Coffin, also picked up six points in the wild scoring contest. The other goals came from the sticks of Bob Fleming and Doug Campbell with three each, Bob Jackson with two and Gordon Pearce, Art Ledger and Bob Crossley.

The Canadians (1), who moved into third place ahead of Maple Leafs, took a 3-0 lead in the first period, increased it to 9-0 at the end of the second and then finished up by whipping 12 past the St. Albert goalie in the third canto.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Ass S. Bushnell, executive director of the central office for eastern intercollegiate athletics, warned Thursday that changing the sites of college basketball games will not cure the betting evil.

Conservative Bushnell, whose office serves 19 collegiate organizations in the east, cautioned: "Those who demand loudly that colleges withdraw their teams from large arenas like Madison Square Garden are merely evading the gambling issue. They are not facing the facts. They are trying to grab a quick solution out of the air."

"I take exception to their statements because they are dangerously misleading at a time like this when a thorough investigation and intelligent consideration is necessary before we can even hope for a solution. Would that the situation were as simple as the slicers change describe. In that case, I would be the first to accept their cure-all. I would be the first to say, 'take the games away from the big arenas and the promoters.' But unfortunately it's not that simple, because the sites have virtually nothing to do with the problem."

IN POSITION TO KNOW

BUSHNELL speaks with authority on the situation not only because of his key position in eastern college athletics but also because he was a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's three-investigating committee which turned in a report on gambling at last month's NCAA convention at Columbia, O.

He emphasized that investigation disclosed most big betting on basketball games as occurring away from the buildings where games are played, "although some wagering is done on the premises." Most transactions are made before the games in offices, hotels, taverns and on the streets, he said.

Bushnell continued, "handicapping services quote prices on campus games, just as they do on games staged in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and other large cities. It's almost as easy for a man in Bethlehem, Pa., to bet on a game at Madison Square Garden, as it is for a New Yorker to bet on a Lehigh-Lafayette game at Bethlehem. The sites are incidental to the situation, and whether it would be easier for gamblers to attempt preliminary telephone contacts with athletes on a campus or in a city is purely a matter of opinion."

AFTER "CAMPUS APOSTLES"
BUSHNELL'S warning was issued to combat efforts of back-to-the-campus apostles like Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen of Kansas U.; Alexander, recently resigned football coach of Georgia Tech; and U.S. representative Donald L. O'Toole of Brooklyn.

These men are urging a return to college gymnasiums as a preventative of gambling and collusion, such as was disclosed in the recent Brooklyn College scandal wherein five B.C. players confessed having arranged to "throw" a game for money.

Bushnell concluded, "advocates of a return to the college gymnasiums probably are speaking in good faith; they may mean well; but I hope the nation's college athletic directors do not listen to them. They are offering a quack cure-all for the gambling evil, instead of buckling down to the difficult task of diagnosing the cause."

Greco Favored To Beat Ruffin Tonight's Bout

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(CP)—Johnny Greco of Montreal, hailed in some fistic quarters here as the best fighter Canada has produced since Vancouver's Jimmy McLarnin, a decade ago fought his way to the welterweight title, ruled a 5-4-9 favorite Thursday night to whip Bobby Ruffin in tonight's third edition of their feud.

A $100,000 gate, Promoter Mike Jacobs' first of the winter season, is predicted for the 10-round scrap in Madison Square Garden. Greco, recently released from the Canadian Army, will carry a six or seven pound weight advantage.

The Canadian won his first bat-

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—

(AP)—Baseball's most fateful meetings in 24 years open today with selection of a commissioner the No. 1 problem.

Not since 1921 when the majors established the office and installed the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis as the first czar have such important subjects been listed for action.

Before a new commissioner can be selected, a rewritten major league agreement establishing the office, powers, term and salary of a commissioner must be adopted.

Final draft by a 10-man committee empowered to draw up the new code will be made today and handed over to the American and National Leagues in separate afternoon sessions. If the leagues approve, joint action will be taken Saturday and candidates will be discussed.

Ford Frick, National League president, is out front in discussions but it is possible a deadlock might result in a dark-horse candidate exploding into the job of Saturday's joint session.

Winnipeg RCAF Ties Sailors 3-3

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2.—(CP)—Winnipeg RCAF Bombers and Winnipeg HMCS Chippawa battled to a 3-3 overtime tie in the Manitoba Inter-Services Senior Hockey League last night.

LAC. Roy McBride, with two, and LAC Bill Snider scored for the airmen while Sailor goals were made by Leading Writer L. Reise, OS. Tony Leswick and LSA Hal Laycoe.

US Army Clippers, winners of the southern section Alaskan Division basketball playoffs held in Edmonton recently, lost to Ladd Field Air Corps 37-26 in the first game of the finals held at Fairbanks on Thursday night.

The Clippers will play Whitehorse tonight and the survivor will meet Air Corps on Saturday night in a sudden death game for the championship.

John Galvin was high scorer for the Edmonton team last night with eight points. Lowell Cornwell and Roy Bundy both having six. John Panvini counted four and Ivan Crumly two.

Five Barred from College Sports

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Feb. 2.—(CP)—The faculty-student athletic committee of Brooklyn College Thursday voted unanimously to bar from any further inter-collegiate athletic activity at the college five students who admitted accepting a $1,000 bribe to throw a game against Akron at Boston Wednesday night.

One member of the committee resigned before the vote was taken. He was 19-year-old Bob Leder, captain of the basketball team and one of the five, who said: "I wouldn't vote against the boys."

Canadians No. 2 Tie Maple Leafs In Juvenile Tilt

Maple Leafs halted the league-leading Canadians (2) at six straight wins Thursday night when they battled them to a 3-3 draw in a City Juvenile Hockey League clash at 119 Street rink.

Charlie Wallis scored first for Maple Leafs on a pass from Ray Barry, but W. Lupul evened it up before the opening canto came to a close on an unassisted effort for the Canucks.

Barry put the Leafs ahead again with the only goal of the second when he finished off a play with Stan Patterson, but Roy Merkel deadlocked the count early in the third and then Patterson netted one for Leafs and Wigston netted one for Canadians before the game ended.

On Voyage Overseas Claims Rifles, Ammunition Thrown Away by Draftees

war theatres said his "message last night from the boys overseas is the same as I gave Wednesday."

In a speech at Owen Sound Wednesday, Mr. Bracken stated: "I say without fear of contradiction that the government's reinforcement plans, which Gen. McNaughton has been painting in such bright colors, seem wholly inadequate to meet the conditions of active warfare."

"They met the conditions of non-activity but nothing more."

ISSUE STILL CLEAR

Speaking in the town hall here, Mr. Bracken said that the issue in Grey North is still clear—it is reinforcement, full reinforcements for the men overseas.

"They know and you know that they are not getting them under the King-McNaughton plan."

"Gen. McNaughton has said I am not an authority on reinforcements," said Mr. Bracken. "But I have talked to men who are military experts. I have talked to men in the ranks, to NCOs, to junior officers, to field officers, and the tale they tell me is the message I brought and bring to you."

"I am carrying their message. Gen. McNaughton is carrying a political message to defend Mr. King's political formula which has caused so much division and disunity in this nation. I have spoken to the men in the mud of Holland and Italy in actual combat with the enemy, and I am interpreting their statements to me in simple English, which I nor any one else can misunderstand."

TOLD OF SHORTAGE

"These men told me that they have been short of reinforcements for months and have told me of men going back into the line after being wounded, once, twice or even three times, without adequate periods of rest and recuperation, because of the failure of the government to meet the minimum reinforcement requirements."

Mr. Bracken said he was not a military expert, but Col. J. L. Ralston, former defence minister, was an expert who had charge of the defence department for five years.

"Col. Ralston is at least as competent as Gen. McNaughton in assessing a reinforcement situation. Col. Ralston returned from a visit with the troops overseas. I visited the same areas he did. I covered the same ground that he did. What was Col. Ralston's report? Col. Ralston said that the situation was acute."

"He recommended to the government that the entire home defence army be made available for reinforcement for the men in the line. Will Gen. McNaughton say that Col. Ralston does not know what he is talking about? Will Gen. McNaughton say that Col. Ralston's report is completely devoid of truth?"

HAS COST LIVES

"Remember, boys have died for lack of reinforcements," said Mr. Bracken. "Remember men have gone into action without adequate recuperation after being wounded a second and third time, while at home there is a huge army that does nothing but train and train. And we have the spectacle of the minister of national defence saying he still favors the voluntary system."

Mr. Bracken deviated from his prepared text at this point to ask that Gen. McNaughton reveal how the home defence troops had thrown rifles and ammunition overboard while on their way overseas.

The fact that more than 6,000 men failed to return from pre-embarkation leave was a direct result of the government's "cowardly partisan policy of dividing this country in order to rule it."

Mr. Bracken said that the CCF party was opposed to sending any expeditionary forces overseas when war broke.

"You say the CCF now says it is in favor of conscription for overseas service. That is only since they have heard the angry voice of the nation demanding that reinforcements be sent overseas."

SAYS TORY LEADER DISREGARDS TRUTH

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Feb. 2.—(C.P.)—Defence Minister McNaughton said yesterday that if reports of a speech John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, made here Wednesday were correct, "then I can only say that we have had another example of the utter disregard for truth which characterized his party in their endeavor to bewilder and mislead the public of Canada about the vital question of reinforcements for the Canadian Army overseas."

(Mr. Bracken told a political rally in Owen Sound Wednesday that "I say without fear of contradiction that the government's reinforcement plans, which Gen. McNaughton has been painting in such bright colors, seem wholly inadequate to meet the conditions of active warfare. They met the conditions of non-activity but nothing more.")

PREPARED STATEMENT

In a prepared statement, Gen. McNaughton, government candidate in the Grey North by-election of next Monday said that his own statements on reinforcements were "as accurate and correct as highly experienced and responsible officers could make them."

"Against this, John Bracken asks the people of Canada to set opinions which he voices and which he claims to have formed as a result of a brief visit to our units overseas."

"I say that no man, however skilled and well-informed he might be, could form an opinion of real value in the time and under the conditions of his visit. He was away from Canada for less than a month in all, and this includes his time in transit and his visits to London and Paris and elsewhere."

"In making the statement he has given, he has either misled himself or he has surrendered himself in an attempt to develop and exploit a situation for what he may think to be an advantage to his political party in their unscrupulous attack on the government of this country."

CARELESS AT LEAST

"At the very least, he has been careless of the good name of Canada's fighting forces overseas. He has been careless in carrying comfort to the enemy; he has been careless of the very serious consequences to the magnificent war effort of Canada and to the discipline of our armed forces which might result if his careless words and statements might come to be believed. Fortunately they will not, for they convey their condemnation in every line of the statement he has made."

Gen. McNaughton said his own statements on reinforcements have been checked for accuracy by the officers responsible for their compilation, and were based on the latest cable reports received from the front through the formations and establishments set up to train and hold and move reinforcements forward as required.

Gen. McNaughton said these were the facts of the reinforcement issue.

"In the battles which followed D-Day (June 6, 1944) the total of casualties sustained by the Canadian Army in Europe were substantially as had been estimated by the officers charged with responsibility for making these forecasts and providing replacements."

HEAVY IN INFANTRY

"In the infantry, the casualties were heavier than had been provided for. In all other arms, they were less. In consequence, there developed a situation in which, unless action was taken promptly, there was a danger that a shortage in infantry reinforcements would come about in late January or early February 1945."

"This was recognized and in addition to the normal flow of reinforcements which had been previously arranged, my predecessor in the office of minister of national defence arranged first, that the surplus of men available in other arms should be remustered for infantry; second, that a bloc of some 4,000 additional men should be sent over from Canada in November and December 1944. He also asked that some 15,000 additional men should be made available."

"When the responsibility passed to my shoulders, I took care to maintain to the full the provisions already made and in order to be sure that the numbers were fully up to the requirements, I added to this additional numbers which the staff had advised were necessary."

"The additional numbers were to go forward in December, January and the three succeeding months."

PROGRAM ADHERED TO

"I repeat again what I have said many times before, that this program covering the normal and additional provision has been adhered to. The numbers dispatched overseas and safely arrived in the United Kingdom are up to date, and there is every reason to be confident that the following dispatches will be made as planned."

Gen. McNaughton said that Mr. Bracken, not content with dealing with the situation of reinforcements, "objectively as he thinks it might be, has seen fit to cast aspersions on my own character."

"He said I left the Canadian Army under a cloud," said Gen. McNaughton. "I left the Canadian Army, and not by my own desire or will. I have been very careful that this should be understood by all insofar as it lay within my power to make the situation known."

"I am well aware that it does not lie with me to give the details at this time, and so I have to wait until later, but I have seen to it that every letter and document, every telegram and memorandum, which has any bearing on this matter, has been placed with those who will write the history of Canada's part in this war. For my part, there is no restriction on their publication, and so all I can do is to wait until the truth is given out as it will be some day."

COLDWELL DOUBTS NEW SESSION BEFORE VOTE

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Feb. 2.—(C.P.)—M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF party, said last night he doubted whether Prime Minister Mackenzie King will call another session of parliament before the general election.

Mr. Coldwell, in a speech at a political rally, said when the House met Wednesday to prorogue last year's session, Mr. King announced that parliament had prorogued until Feb. 28.

He said Defence Minister McNaughton, government candidate in the by-election, was saying he was wishing to get a seat in the Commons to pilot through the war appropriations of his department.

"Mr. King's prorogation until Feb. 28 clearly means that no session to approve these war appropriations will be held," said Mr. Coldwell.

The Prime Minister had announced that a general election would be called before April 17.

"There is clearly insufficient time between early in March, when a new session could begin, and April 17, to scrutinize and pass war appropriations. In former sessions these war appropriations have occupied parliament's attention for as much as three months."

"The 'just a seat for McNaughton' campaign is without any foundation in either fact or logic."

Mr. Coldwell made the statements while speaking in support of Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, CCF candidate in the Grey North by-election Feb. 5. Other speakers at the rally included Air Marshal Godfrey and Hon. John Sturdy, minister of reconstruction for Saskatchewan.

Mr. Coldwell said that Gen. McNaughton was attempting to make a great deal out of his so-called labor backing.

CLAIMED COMMUNIST

"That backing, perhaps unknown to him, is all Communist," said Mr. Coldwell. "The Communists are supporting McNaughton for reasons which have nothing to do with this country. Under other circumstances they would support the Conservatives. They are a noisy, but insignificant fraction of Canadian labor. McNaughton should repudiate them as the CCF has done throughout the years."

The Liberals were telling farmers in the constituency that the CCF would take their farms away. "They undoubtedly know that this warmed over charge is false," he said. "They might as well say that the CCF is going to take the farms and move them down to the United States. After all if you are going to tell falsehoods, you might just as well do it in a really big way."

"The Liberals are working on the Hitler-treated theory that a lie travels farther than the truth. This party is bankrupt and knows it—bankrupt of everything but money."

SWITCH IN POLITICS SCORED BY JOLLIFFE

CLARKSBURG, Ont., Feb. 2.—E. B. Joliffe, leader of the CCF in the Ontario legislature, said last night "Heaven help this country if it's going to be led by politicians who are always switching their politics in order to gain high office."

He made the statement in a speech at a political rally organized here for Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, CCF candidate in the Grey North by-election Feb. 5.

"Here in Grey North we have the ridiculous spectacle of the government candidate (Defence Minister McNaughton), a former supporter of R. B. Bennett, campaigning with the support of prominent communists. And welcoming it. And the Tory candidate (Gerfield Case), a former Liberal, Progressive and what-have-you, supported by John Bracken, another ex-Liberal who helped Mackenzie King to win the election of 1935."

Then Mr. Bracken, leader of the Progressive Conservative party, "has the nerve to suggest that the question in the by-election is the integrity of political leaders."

Rocket Bombs Fail to Strike Antwerp Docks

"Rocket bombs have caused considerable damage to Antwerp, but up to the time that I had left that battle area the Germans had failed to hit their objective, the docks of the city," Richard L. Sanborn, war correspondent for the Southern papers, stated on his arrival here Friday in the course of a tour of Western Canada.

"The rocket, or Zombie bomb, as it is being called by Canadians in the war theatres because you never know when it's coming over, started to arrive in Antwerp Friday, Oct. 13, and continued to come over at the rate of 10 to 15 daily. The bombs leave a very large crater, some measuring 50 to 60 feet across, and from 20 to 30 feet deep," he said.

The country in which the Canadians have been fighting is of the toughest possible description. It is four-fifths flooded with water from ankle to shoulder, and the cold of the district is terrible.

SPECIALLY SELECTED

The Canadians were selected specially by General Montgomery to clear out the channel ports, and they performed a marvellous job, according to the statements of Montgomery to Canadian war correspondents.

At the time that these operations were proceeding other United Nations were sweeping through France and Belgium to the German border. These operations captured most of the head-lines, Mr. Sanborn said, and the spectacular work performed by the Canadians was relegated to second place although their work made the drive across the continent possible.

Mr. Sanborn, a former student at the University of Alberta, will address a meeting of the Edmonton Women's Press Club here during his two-day visit.

Sudeten German Fights For Canada

Less than a week before the Nazis seized the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia in Sept., 1938, Rolf Hoidt, a Sudeten German, fled the country with his young wife, and came to Canada, settling at Tupper Creek, near Pouce Coupe, in British Columbia.

Yesterday, Pte. Hoidt, a soldier in the Canadian Army, passed through this city on his way home on leave, after three years and two months service overseas during which time he fought against his German cousins.

Pte. Hoidt said he was now a "Churchill-democrat" and a Canadian who had no desire to live again in Europe even in a free Czechoslovakia. "Canada is the country for me," he said.

Pte. Hoidt was one of a number of soldiers from northern British Columbia who changed trains at Calgary yesterday morning to continue their journey home by way of Edmonton.

Good Samaritans Kept Busy Here

Twice called to the same 97 street cafe within an hour and a half, early Friday morning, city police saw conditions restored to normal by unnamed "good Samaritans" who "dug down to dig out" of trouble strangers who had been promised a free ride to police headquarters.

The first call came about 12:40 a.m., when a man refused to pay $1.90 for food he and another had eaten. One man had run away from the table after promising to pay for the meal, while the second left behind had no money on him. It was then that a stranger approached, offering his services.

The next call came soon after 2 a.m., and concerned the cutting up of a table cloth by three men. This time, it was a woman who came to the rescue, handing over $2.50 to the cafe proprietor.

Butter Production Down in Alberta

Alberta butter production for 1944 was 37,866,336 pounds, or 2.3 per cent below the 38,656,940 pounds produced in 1943, according to statistics issued Friday by D. H. McCallum, provincial dairy commissioner. Cheese production for the year was 3,711,932 pounds, 44.8 per cent above the 1943 total.

Provincial butter production for December was 1,597,939 pounds, or 10.7 per cent below the December, 1943 total. The amount is made up of 625,835 pounds for Northern Alberta; 615,224 pounds, central section, and 356,880 pounds, southern section.

Canadian production for December was 12,400,599 pounds for December, a figure one-tenth of one per cent higher than one year ago.

Alberta's factory cheese production in December was 268,476 pounds, 41.1 per cent above December, 1943, production.

Say Housing Act Is Being Delayed

Reference to the Supreme Court of Canada of the question of Dominion authority under the National Housing Act is scored by the Edmonton Ex-Servicemen's Rehabilitation committee in a resolution recently adopted.

The resolution contends that reference of the question of powers under the act to the court will result in delay that will cause hardship to veterans and their families hard hit by the housing shortage.

The committee suggested a conference at an early date of Dominion and provincial authorities to speedily conclude an agreement on housing.

The resolution went to the following: Prime Minister King, Hon. J. L. Halsey, Premier Ernest Manning, Hon. James A. MacKinnon and Mrs. Cora Casselman, MP.

Begin Hearing Fraud Counts Against 2 Men

Story of a man—one of two men charged with conspiring to defraud the public, unfolded, partially, in city police court Thursday afternoon, when Magistrate L. R. Jackson heard the allegations that A. Roderick MacDonald of Edmonton had, for the past 10 years, made his living by "taking a gamble."

MacDonald, together with Clarence Inman, also of Edmonton, are each facing two charges of fraud in connection with the Riverdale Community League and Polish Canadian Association, in which names they allegedly collected money.

The charges were laid after intensive investigations on the parts of Detectives V. A. Taylor and Herbert Graham of the morality squad, assisted by Det. Alex Stevenson.

Eight witnesses were called to give evidence before the case was adjourned until Friday afternoon.

IN PARTNERSHIP

Det. Taylor told of going to the office in a downtown block, and finding there Inman, another man named Robert Kidney, and a woman, Ruby McKenzie. As he and two other officers entered the office, the witness said, Inman hurriedly closed a book before him. The latter said he had been in partnership with MacDonald and his partner of M. & M. Shows for about two months.

It was this accused's duty to look after collections, and look after the cash-book, the officer was told at the time.

Inman stated, continued the witness, that he had been soliciting donations for the Riverdale Community project for about 10 days, collecting from $300 to $350 in that period. Employees there, he said, were paid daily, while he, himself, got 25 per cent on the collections.

According to Det. Taylor, a piece Continued on Page Fifteen

Do you think capture of Berlin by the Russians would mean the sudden ending of the European war?

THE ANSWERS

H. LASSANDRA, merchant: No. I am one who does not believe the fall of Berlin would end the European war. I think the Nazis are already resigned to the loss of the capital and will fight on in terrain more favorable to them for a long time yet.

H. RECTOR, visitor: Capture of Berlin by the Soviet forces might not mean the sudden collapse of all German resistance but it certainly should terminate the last glimmering hopes of victory for the German people.

I. MACMILLAN, welder: It seems certain to me that the German war lords have already written off Berlin and have some other plan for continuing the war beyond defence of northeastern Germany. I don't think the fall of Berlin will mean the end of all German resistance or else why do the Nazis fight so bitterly on the Western Front and in Italy?

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Wife Tires of Serfdom
Wants to Lead Own Life

First She Longs for a Dominating Husband and Finds That Life is Not a Bowl of Cherries for a Beaten Woman

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Before my husband and I were married I wanted so much to have a husband who would cuff me around a bit and show me who was really boss. I had been making my own way since I left high school and was tired of being the strong, independent type. Well, I got my wish. My husband orders me around as if I were a slave, and when I don't please him he gives me a spanking. And I find that I can't stand it.

What can I do to make him change his attitude towards me? I hate to admit that I am a beaten woman.

VERY UNHAPPY WIFE.

ANSWER: You seem to illustrate the truth of the old axiom that a woman never knows what she wants in a man. But you have lots of company, if that is any comfort to you. Look at the women you know who thought all they wanted in marriage was romance and who married glib love-makers but poor providers, and who find out that they have lost their taste for soft talk when they have to hustle out and bring in the dough.

And think of the many women you know who thought they had a call to reform drunks and gamblers and turn lawless loafers into go-getters, and who find that being a synthetic backbone to weaklings isn't as thrilling as they thought it would be, and wish they had married

For Her Delight
By ALICE BROOKS

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a married man with three children. I have a good position which pays a salary that enables me to support my family more than comfortably. I am not a drinker, smoker, gambler, or philanderer. I give my wife a generous allowance for housekeeping and her own use.

But here is my gripe: My wife wants my spending money. If I want to go on a few days' fishing or hunting trip with some of the fellows, she spoils all the pleasure of it by her grumbling over it. Same way if I buy something for myself. A couple of years ago I bought an outdoor motor and I have never heard the last of it. Whenever she is in a party it is okay, but if it is something she doesn't want to do, I am in for a scene.

Am I wrong in believing a man who provides all for his family and, besides, is kind and loving to them, should be permitted to have a few friends of his own, and do a few things he likes to do, which his wife doesn't care to do, without being made miserable over it?

HENPECKED HUSBAND.

ANSWER: I certainly do think that the man who earns the money has a right to use some of it for his own behoof and benefit. Moreover, I think he is a weakling if he lets his wife bulldoze him into turning it all over to her.

While the whole world is in the mood, as it is just now, of doing away with dictators, why don't you depose yours? After all, the hand that holds the purse rules the roost—if it has any grip in it.

WIDOW

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been a widow for 15 years. Have three sons who are in the service. I am 52 years old and have fallen in love with a man who wishes to marry me. Should I wait until my sons are married before I marry?

DEAR MISS DIX: I would wait for the war to be over and your sons to come home and get settled and married, your suitors will probably have married somebody else. Better take him while you can get him, for husbands are going to be scarce after the war.

Your sons will probably be very much pleased to know that you are settled comfortably and will not be dependent upon them.

Please allow a week or ten days for delivery.

THESE WOMEN—"Now don't forget, Marge—it's YOUR turn to bring a man to lunch tomorrow!"

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

When a mother describes in dramatic detail all the awful things her young rumbunctious can do in a day, it is because she feels these to be examples of special wickedness peculiar to her child.

This, of course, is false. All children, without judgment, but merely the desire to be active, can manage enough destruction in a day to drive a parent frantic.

In this case it was a 13-month-old child who chewed the weather stripping, pulled the tablecloth from the table, yanked at the curtains and ran from one thing to another, busy, destructive and impervious to the spans, slaps and scolding showered upon him. No wonder the mother went to bed each night thinking of herself as a failure.

Her real failure arose from her choice of treatment for ending such a situation. She was expecting a child barely past infancy to have imagination enough to know the trouble he was causing her when he chewed up valuable weather stripping of upset the contents of a table.

Her failure was in not providing him the opportunity to be active in places where he could not do so much harm. He wasn't intent on mischief, just on taking advantage of tempting tablecloth ends, of material that chewed as well as his toys and in investigating everything that was within touching and chewing distance.

If kept in a playpen he would expend his energies walking, climbing or playing with permissible toys. If he resented a playpen, even at this age, though few do, then a room should be emptied of all perishable furnishings, leaving only sturdier furniture and the baby's toys and he should be kept out of the gate of the house by means of a rail on the open door.

To allow a child to run loose in the house means that, at this age, he must be watched every minute. The mother can turn him away from his explorations just so long then her patience is at an end. Then he gets punished, not for his wickedness but because he is a baby and doesn't know any better.

Spare the baby frustration and punishment and save the mother's nerves and energy by preventing the baby from being able to get into mischief. He'll be far happier in his playpen or playroom where his activities won't annoy anyone.

Our leaflets, "Early Discipline" and "Wise Management of the Child" cover the early period of childhood. They may be had by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

FRUIT JUICE IN THE DIET

A reader asks whether an electric juicer "kills the vitamins" in the fruit or vegetables or the juice squeezed out of them.

Of course not.

There seems to be a naive notion that juices squeezed out of fruits or vegetables whether by hand or by a power driven juicer, acquires somehow greater value or more remedial or medicinal or corrective value, than the fruits or vegetables from which it is squeezed.

That is silly.

Take oranges. If you can get any fit to eat. It is much better, in my judgment, to eat one, two or half a dozen oranges at any time than it is to squeeze the juice out of the oranges or oranges, drink it, and throw away the pulp.

Speaking of fresh fruit or fruit juice, mothers with babies to feed should know that when fresh fruit or fresh fruit juice is not available factory canned tomato or tomato juice is nearly if not quite as good a source of vitamin C and of course every baby, as well as everybody else, must have vitamin C in some form daily to maintain good health.

I say factory canned—the factory canning process is a vacuum process and that means that oxygen (in the air) is excluded and hence the vitamin C in the tomato or its juice is not destroyed. If the tomato or its juice can be placed in a hermetically sealed container which is filled to the brim so that no air is left in the container, before it is cooked or heated, it will retain as much of the vitamin C whether canned at home or in the canning factory. But open canning or open cooking quickly destroys vitamin C.

So far as vegetable juices are concerned, I wouldn't give you a nickel a gallon for any particular vegetable juice or combination of juices. I'd pay you more for a whole raw carrot than for a quart of juice squeezed from pounds of carrots. There may be invalids who for one reason or another cannot eat vegetables and can drink juice squeezed from vegetables. All right, that's better than no vegetables at all, but—come to think of it I can't conceive why an invalid could not take pureed vegetables—that is, the vegetables finely ground up or run through a colander, sieve or strainer. It seems absurd for any one who still has enough strength to swallow to take vegetable juice.

In infants or young children vitamin C is necessary to prevent scurvy. For that matter, that's the reason why everybody must have a daily ration of vitamin C—to prevent scurvy.

Tomorrow we'll talk about scurvy, as we do each scurvy.

PULLING A GRAY HAIR DOES NOT CAUSE THREE TO GROW

Many persons who are getting their first gray hairs are afraid to pull them out, believing that when one is pulled three new ones will grow in its place. This is all nonsense; otherwise a man who is getting bald could pull out all his hair and have three times as much growth back on his head. Scientific research has shown that neither the number nor the size of the hairs is changed either by pulling them out or by cutting them off. So pull out the telltale gray hairs if you wish, and don't worry about the increase. Time will take care of that.

McKenney

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

America's Card Authority

I received a letter from Fred C. Berger of Woodward, Okla. Fred has been in the armed forces for 28 months and he enclosed this interesting hand. He said that he felt his partner should have bid seven hearts instead of seven spades and, of course, he is correct.

You can see that with spades as trump, there is no place to get rid of that losing diamond but with hearts as trump, three rounds of hearts picks up the opponents' trump and now you discard one of your diamonds on the king of clubs and ruff the other one, making the grand slam at hearts.

of paper found on Inman's desk contained words referring to the loss of the Riverdale hall by fire and asking for support in the way of a donation. This, the accused had told the investigator, was the form of approach used in contacting businessmen and business firms by telephone in the city. After getting a prospect to agree to contribute, a collector would call and pick up the money, leaving a receipt and one dance ticket for every dollar contributed.

Det. Herbert Graham, another investigator, told of speaking to Miss McKenzie, who said she had been employed there since Nov. 1944, and who stated she was at present collecting for the Riverdale project. She was not connected with the community league, she said.

"SUCKER LIST"

The witness said a list of cards found on the premises, each bearing the name and address of business people and business concerns termed by the defence counsel as the "sucker list," were gone over by the woman who would make a telephone call, after which she handed the cardboards to someone else.

Envelopes, addressed, containing receipts, and in some cases tickets to a dance, were found on the woman's desk, the witness continued. These, he said, acknowledged the receipt of money from a downtown theatre, a local hotel, another downtown financial institution, while from the desk of Robert Kilday, he secured another receipt made out to a woman's shop in the city.

From Inman's desk he secured a number of receipts made out to a stove company, a brewery, an architect, and others. The amounts stated on the receipts varied from $1 to $10, although the receipts were made out before the collector called for the amounts promised, it was stated.

Approximately 2,000 cards were found, each bearing a separate name of individual or business place, it was the witness.

It was while police officers were still at the office that a woman, giving her name as Florence Goh, entered the premises, said she had been out collecting for the Riverdale enterprise, and took 13 letters from her purse. Five of the letters contained money. Soon after, MacDonald, the second accused, entered the place.

CONTRACT PRODUCED

Det.-Sgt. W. A. Smith told the court that MacDonald produced a contract which he said had been drawn up between himself and Benjamin Hager, treasurer of the community league, and for which he had paid $150 cash.

"After reading the contract," said Det.-Sgt. Smith, "I said to MacDonald, 'If you make $10,000 on this, it's all your money.' The accused said, 'Yes, that's my gamble.'"

The witness continued, saying he had asked the accused about the use of fictitious names in the concern. The accused, he said, replied with, "I take that gamble. This is the way I've been making my living for the last 10 years."

A representative of the city telephone company was then called to the stand, concerning the three telephones operating in the office of the two accused; while the manager of a cafe told of making a contribution to what he thought

JOSEPH BEST, Sec.-Treas. of the Municipality of Stony Plain, No. 230, Post Office, Stony Plain.

COMING HOME.—FO. L. M. Pederson, DFC, 10156 94A street who during a four of operations survived four attacks by Messerschmidt 210 in a raid which should have been a "piece of cake." Now, in Canada on his way home, he said the Lancaster he piloted was detailed to bomb a target in France. "We used to think French targets were easy, but not this one," he declared. Pederson's gunners caught the enemy fighter in a cross fire on its fourth attack and scored hits. "He went into a dive and disappeared through a cloud, so we can't be sure of a kill," Pederson stated. The young pilot hopes to return to school upon leaving the service.

was a worthy cause. The cheque for $25 he had issued to the community league was not paid, he said, at the request of police.

PASTOR GAVE $5

Pastor of an Edmonton church told of giving a $5 contribution to a "gentleman" who called following a telephone call, while the manager of an Edmonton departmental store told of also donating $25 to the organization.

The manager of a printing company, who had rendered an account for printing, told the court that his office had printed 1,000 receipt forms headed the "Riverdale Community League," and 1,000 tickets to a dance to be held Jan. 29 of this year.

The case was adjourned at this point, until Friday afternoon.

Hugh Calais MacDonald, K.C., is counsel for the two accused, while William Shortreed is prosecuting.

Alberta To Make Hospital Loans

The provincial government will loan $105,000 to three Alberta municipal hospital districts for construction and purchase of hospitals at Oyen, Coronation and Consort, according to orders-in-council announced Friday.

The money is to be repaid over a 20-year period, and carries no interest. Debentures will be issued to secure all three loans.

Oyen municipal hospital district will receive $50,000, to build and equip a hospital. At Coronation, $10,000 will be spent to buy Coronation General Hospital from that town. A further $10,000 will be used for improvements and new equipment to the hospital.

Consort hospital district will erect a hospital, at a cost not to exceed $35,000. In all three cases, the provincial treasurer is authorized to pay annually any excess of expenditure over revenue incurred in operation of the hospitals, in accordance with provisions laid out in the orders.

Before the Magistrate

William Tahir of Edmonton found himself in a "pile of grief," Thursday afternoon, when he came before Magistrate Harold L. Howe, K.C., on three charges of breach of the motor vehicle and highway traffic act preferred by RCMP.

He pleaded guilty to all three counts, which included driving a public service vehicle at more than 30 miles an hour, and which cost him $10 or 15 days; for failing to keep to the right of the centre line of the highway, which cost him $5 or seven days; and for driving when he didn't have a driver's permit, which meant another $5 or seven days. All terms were ordered to run concurrently.

Alf Mark of Bremner, who failed to stop before entering a main highway, was assessed $5 or seven days, while fines of $3 or five days were imposed on Bob Thorn of Chipman and James Rough of Leduc on charges concerning lighting equipment on their vehicles.

Gordon E. Coleman and Thomas E. Pollitt, both of Edmonton, pleaded guilty to operating their vehicles at more than 40 miles an hour, and were fined $15 or 20 days.

Harry J. Christensen, found guilty by Magistrate L. R. Jackson Friday morning of having stolen property in his possession, acknowledged a previous conviction, and was sentenced to one month's imprisonment. Defence counsel, Walter J. Beaumont, stated that the decision would be appealed.

Wife of a Barrhead resident, whose companion of a hotel was recently sentenced on a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency, was placed on one year's suspended sentence, ordered to pay her share of the hotel bill—her portion being $19—and told she had to remain on the farm and look after her children during that period.

Claim New Discovery to Increase Life of Lumber in North Country

By A. D. RANDALL

HIGH PRAIRIE: At this season of the year, activity centres in the bush, and from the highway, snow-packed trails lead to sawmills, where trees become rough lumber. Here in town, the whir and sing of the planner mill continues the work. Just as the country is faced with a shortage of hardwood lumber, comes this amazing discovery—a white powder (carbon dioxide and ammonia) used on soft wood, under pressure, renders it not only hard, but waterproof, stain-proof, and colored all the way through, with a beautiful, glossy surface.

What this tremendous discovery will mean to Peace River forests, one can only guess. Year by year, timber berths are being destroyed by fire. Sometime by lightning, mostly by carelessness. Few realize what damage forest fires have done. Timber Inspector J. L. Janssen gives the figures—"For a period of 11 years, that is, from 1926 to 1937 inclusive, the total depletion was 3,447,268,170 feet board measure of which 31.17 per cent was utilized.

and 68.83 per cent was destroyed by fire." Not only is the timber laid waste, but myriads of song birds die, wild game is destroyed, cover for valuable fur animals depleted. The fire season will soon be here and to guard against loss, Timber Inspector Janssen of Slave Lake has prepared the following advice:

When in the woods, look up the forest ranger and get acquainted with him. He can give you assistance and will do it gladly. Never make a campfire against a tree or log, or anywhere except in a place free from all inflammable material. The gravel of a stream bed is the best place. Never leave a camp fire for even a few minutes without completely extinguishing it with water.

Do not throw away burning matches, cigarettes, or tobacco. If you discover a fire that you can handle alone, put it out and report it to the Ranger. If you cannot handle it, report it at once to the nearest Ranger, or Forest Division Headquarters. Divisional Headquarters in the Peace River country are located at Slave Lake, Peace River and Grande P. Jirle.

Lloyd Well Drill Finds Gas Pocket

LLOYDMINSTER: The Community Service well drill, half a mile from the supply well of the Lloydminster Gas Company, in the Loveseith interests, was run perforated at the level of the top gas zone 1,670 feet Wednesday and shows an open flow of approximately four million feet of gas. This well showed another gas zone about 15 feet deeper. It is stated that two more wells will be drilled by this company, with drilling sites already selected. Chas. Mills, Lloydminster drilling contractor, put this well down.
